

Live Where You Work

People spend more money in the community where they live than the one where they work.